PRESS RELEASE

CRAIG MITCHELL Honored In Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Celebration

Salisbury, Maryland educator Craig Mitchell, received the Community Involvement Award during the 33rd annual Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Celebration, at the Hilton BWI. The award, is one of five Minority Recognition Awards established by the Maryland State Education Association to honor the outstanding achievements of minorities from across the state of Maryland. Craig Mitchell was nominated for the prestigious award by the Wicomico County Education Association of which he is a member.

Craig's dedication and involvement in public education clearly shines. He sees himself as, "a vehicle of change positioned in the education arena to assist in preparing tomorrow's leaders." In addition to assisting students with their studies during the school day, Craig mentors students to greater success during the school day; and, after school, he assists students with rigorous track and field training.

Within the community, Craig is an ordained and licensed minister at the Cathedral of Love Church Ministries in Salisbury. He has authored a book, No More Heart Games, published by Halo Publishing Company. On Monday evenings, Craig hosts a weekly empowerment conference call "hoping to empower and mentor leaders one generation at a time".

Craig Mitchell's consistent leadership and loyalty to public education represents the positive power of public education and educators in Wicomico County.
